RECORD OF WAR SERVICE	117
ORDERS, DECORATIONS AND DISPATCHES	753

INTRODUCTION

THIS volume has been compiled to meet a strong and general desire that the names should be recorded of those members of the University of Edinburgh who took part in the war, as well as those whose service cost them their lives. At first it was intended that the Record should comprehend all forms of national service ; but as the collection of material proceeded it was found impracticable to obtain particulars from more than a small proportion of the great number who contributed to win the war by one form or another of civilian effort. It was, moreover, realised that such services, important as many of them were, stood in a different category from services in the field. Any attempt to mention them was therefore abandoned, and the Record of War Service which is now presented relates only to those who served in the Forces of the Crown. For similar reasons no account is included here of the work—some of it of notable consequence—which was done in the laboratories of the University with a definitely military aim.

The Record comprises, first, a “Roll of the Fallen,” on which are the names of 944 members of the University, with a brief account of their military careers, and with photographs, when these could be obtained. The University desires to thank the relatives of those whose names appear in this list for their ready and careful response to enquiries as to service, and for the photographs which have been sent in about eight hundred and fifty instances. All the photographers concerned have generously waived any claim to copyright in respect of the reproduction of photographs in this volume. The Roll is arranged alphabetically. It gives for each individual his date of birth and his school, his athletic and military record at school, the Faculty in which he studied and his degree (if any), his athletic and military record at the University, the record of his war services, with promotions, dates, places of service, decorations, honours, and mentions in dispatches.

The next list, which is entitled "Record of War Service," gives details, necessarily in a very concise form, of service in the Navy, Army, or Air Force, on the part of about seven thousand members of the University. Names which are included in the "Roll of the Fallen" are not repeated in this list. The particulars which are given have in general been furnished by the persons concerned, in reply to a circular issued by the University, and have been checked and supplemented by reference to Army and Navy Lists.

Then follows a list of Orders, Decorations, and Mentions in Dispatches, which includes, with many other honours, five awards of the Victoria Cross.

On the outbreak of hostilities about six hundred students and young graduates who had been members of the Officers' Training Corps at once received commissions in the Army. The Officers' Training Corps, which in this University includes Artillery, Engineer, Infantry, and Medical Units, continued to be an active training centre for Cadets during the whole of the war. It will be seen from the lists that a large proportion of the graduates of the University took service as medical officers. In many instances medical students who had joined the Forces as combatants were returned at a later stage to the University to complete their professional training in view of the urgent needs of the Royal Army Medical Corps.

Introduction

The work of editing the volume has been carried out by Major John E. Mackenzie. The University desires to thank the Editor for the labour and care he has expended in compiling it, and in passing it through the press. To gather, select, and verify the particulars of service of so many persons has not been a short or easy task. Among Major Mackenzie's qualifications for the Editorship was the fact that he had served as Adjutant of the Officers' Training Corps throughout the War. He has spared no pains to secure accuracy and completeness, and in this he has had efficient help from a staff of assistants and from several voluntary workers, among whom Mr J. G. Gilbertson, Dr Thomas Mackenzie, Dr Samuel Walker, and Mr George Wilson, should especially be named. Much of the initial work of collecting particulars was carried out by the former Secretary of the Senatus and Court, Professor Sir Ludovic Grant, with the assistance of the clerical staff, and the material was indexed under the supervision of Dr James Walker.

Mr Rudyard Kipling has allowed us to print the sentences which follow on the next page. They formed part of a speech delivered in July 1920, on the occasion of his receiving from the University the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. His words are felt to be a peculiarly fitting introduction to the Roll of Honour of the University in which they were spoken.

J. A. EWING,
Principal and Vice-Chancellor.

THE UNIVERSITY,
EDINBURGH, January 1921.

“HERE as elsewhere, the sins of the fathers were visited on the children, and the sons of your University were once again constrained, like their forebears, so to use themselves in matters of conscience as they should answer to their Maker. All earth is witness that they answered as befitted their ancestry; they endured as the strong influences about their youth had framed them to endure. That they willingly and wittingly laid down the unachieved purposes of their lives in order that all life should not be wrenched from its purpose; that they turned without fear or question from these Gates of Learning to those of the Grave in order that free men might still continue to learn freedom, is their glory but not their glory alone. It is the glory also of their severe and beloved mother, who, while she gave them learning, dowered them with that wisdom without which all learning is folly.”

RUDYARD KIPLING.

Machine-Gun Corps, March 1916. France Oct. 1915; Salonika July 1916; Battle of Muchkovo, near Vardar River. Invalided home Dec. 1916. Returned to France May 1917, and present at the Battles of the Somme, Passchendaele, Arras, Ypres, Cambrai, and St Quentin. Taken Prisoner at St Quentin March 1918. Secretary and Food Controller for British Officers at Karlsruhe and Beeskow, March to Dec. 1918. V.C. March 1918.

Extract from the "London Gazette," 4th Sept. 1919:—

VICTORIA CROSS

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty. On the 21st March 1918, near St Quentin, after a very heavy bombardment, the enemy penetrated our line, and the flank of the 61st Division became exposed. Lieut. Ker, with one Vickers gun, succeeded in engaging the enemy's infantry, approaching under cover of dead ground, and held up the attack, inflicting many casualties. He then sent back word to his Battalion Headquarters that he had determined to stop with his sergeant and several men who had been badly wounded, and fight until a counter-attack could be launched to relieve him. Just as ammunition failed his party were attacked from behind by the enemy with bombs, machine-guns, and with the bayonet. Several bayonet attacks were delivered, but each time they were repulsed by Lieut. Ker and his companions with their revolvers, the Vickers gun having by this time been destroyed. The wounded were collected into a small shelter, and it was decided to defend them to the last and to hold up the enemy as long as possible. In one of the many hand-to-hand encounters a German rifle and bayonet and a small supply of ammunition were secured, and subsequently used with good effect against the enemy. Although Lieut. Ker was very exhausted from want of food and gas poisoning, and from the supreme exertions he had made during ten hours of the most severe bombardment, fighting, and attending to the wounded, he refused to surrender until all his ammunition was exhausted and his position was rushed by large numbers of the enemy. His behaviour throughout the day was absolutely cool and fearless, and by his determination he was materially instrumental in engaging and holding up for three hours more than 500 of the enemy.

Extract from the "London Gazette," 1st Jan. 1918:—

MILITARY CROSS

In the 15 Bis Sector, near Loos, on 15th June 1917, showed great courage endurance and initiative in a very successful daylight raid. He commanded a party of forty other ranks. He led them with great gallantry, capturing all his objectives, taking five prisoners and killing twenty Germans. He conducted operation throughout with great coolness and it was largely due to his fine work that the withdrawal of the whole raid was carried out without a casualty. He was the last to leave the trench. The success of the raid was largely due to the valuable reconnaissance carried out by this officer before the raid. This officer has many times been brought to notice for his gallantry in action and has commanded his company very well.

Extract from the "London Gazette," 11th Jan. 1918:—

For most conspicuous bravery, initiative and devotion to duty when in command of his company in a very exposed position. After a very heavy bombardment, during which Captain Lascelles was wounded, the enemy attacked in strong force but was driven off, success being due in a great degree to the fine example set by this officer, who, refusing to allow his wound to be dressed, continued to encourage his men and organise the defence.

Shortly afterwards the enemy again attacked and captured the trench, taking several of his men prisoners. Captain Lascelles at once jumped on to the parapet, and, followed by the remainder of his company—twelve men only—rushed across under very heavy machine-gun fire, and drove over sixty of the enemy back, thereby saving a most critical situation.

He was untiring in reorganising the position, but shortly afterwards the enemy again attacked and captured the trench and Captain Lascelles, who escaped after.

The remarkable determination and gallantry of this officer in the course of operations, during which he received two further wounds, afforded an inspiring example to all.

Extract from the "London Gazette," 26th Oct. 1918:—

VICTORIA CROSS

For most conspicuous bravery in attack when, acting as Adjutant of his battalion, he was constantly in evidence in the firing line, and by his coolness under most heavy shell and machine-gun fire inspired the confidence of all ranks.

Three days later he was in command of the firing line during an attack, and showed throughout most courageous and skilful leading in face of heavy machine-gun fire. When barbed wire was encountered he personally reconnoitred it before leading his men forward. On one occasion, when extra strong entanglements were reached, he organised and took forward a party of men, and under heavy machine-gun fire supervised the making of gaps. Later when the latter part of our line was definitely held up, Lieut. Macintyre rallied a small party, pushed forward through the enemy barrage in pursuit of an enemy machine-gun detachment, and ran them to earth in a "pill-box" a short distance ahead, killing three and capturing an officer, ten other ranks and five machine-guns. In this redoubt he and his party raided three "pill-boxes" and disposed of the occupants, thus enabling the battalion to capture the redoubt.

When the battalion was ordered to take up a defensive position, Lieut. Macintyre, after he had been relieved of command of the firing line, reconnoitred the right flank which was exposed. When doing this an enemy machine-gun opened fire close to him. Without any hesitation he rushed it single-handed, put the team to flight and brought in the gun. On returning to the redoubt he continued to show splendid spirit while supervising consolidation.

The success of the advance was largely due to Lieut. Macintyre's fine leadership and initiative, and his gallantry and leading was an inspiring example to all.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He commanded a party which attacked the enemy's outposts. He handled his men with great ability and dash, capturing eight prisoners and killing many more. The operation was carried out without a single casualty to the party.

Extract from the "London Gazette," 18th Dec. 1917:—

VICTORIA CROSS

For most conspicuous bravery and leadership during operations.

He took command of the squadron of his regiment when the squadron leader, approaching the enemy front line at a gallop, was killed. Lieut. Strachan led the squadron through the enemy line of machine-gun posts, and then, with the surviving men, led the charge on the enemy battery, killing seven of the gunners with his sword. All the gunners having been killed and the battery silenced, he rallied his men and fought his way back at night through the enemy's line, bringing all unwounded men safely in, together with fifteen prisoners.

The operation—which resulted in the silencing of an enemy battery, the killing of the whole battery personnel and many infantry, and the cutting of three main lines of telephone communication two miles in rear of the enemy's front line—was only rendered possible by the outstanding gallantry and fearless leading of this officer.

July 1917; Captain Aug. 1918. France, 63rd Brigade, R.F.A. V.C. Feb. 1918, for service at the Battle of Cambrai on 30th Nov. 1917.

Extract from the "London Gazette," 13th Feb. 1918:—

VICTORIA CROSS

For most conspicuous bravery and devoted services in action in command of a section.

When the personnel of the battery was reduced to five by the fire of the artillery, machine-guns, infantry, and aeroplanes; had lost its commander and five of the sergeants, and was surrounded by enemy infantry on the front right flank, and finally in rear, he maintained the fire of the guns by swinging the trails round close together, the men running and loading from gun to gun. He thereby not only covered other battery positions, but also materially assisted some small infantry detachments to maintain a position against great odds.

He was in action for eight hours, firing the whole time, and inflicting serious casualties on the enemy. Then, owing to the exhausted state of his personnel, he withdrew when infantry support arrived, taking with him the essential gun-parts and all wounded men.

His guns were eventually recovered.
